Abbreviated Notice of Resource Area Delineation

20 Elm Street
North Reading, Massachusetts
April 25, 2019

Introduction:

The applicant, NY Ventures LLC, is proposing to permit and construct a new mixed-income development at 20 Elm Street, North Reading, MA. The development site is comprised of one parcel of land, Parcel ID: 213/085.0-0000-0005.0 MAP: 085.0 BLOCK: 0000 Lot: 0005.0, which totals approximately 24.2 acres of land. The site is a partially developed, partially wooded area. The western side of the site was formerly the location of the Thompson Country Club, and is primarily comprised of an old driving range, swimming pool area, and tennis courts. The easterly portion of the project site is home to Teresa's Grille 19 and its associated parking areas. The property is located near the Lynnfield and Middleton Town Line and centrally located in between Routes 93, 128 and 95.

The entire southern border of the subject parcel abutts the Ipswich River. The property is bound to the north and east by Elm and Gillis Street, and to the west by Lynn Street and Riverside Drive.

The applicant is seeking confirmation of the delineated resource area boundaries and BLSF shown on the accompanying plan.

Bordering Vegetated Wetlands, (BVW):

As mentioned, the lot borders on BVW's to the northwest and southern portions of the lot. The BVW in the northwestern area of the lot (WF C1B – C18) captures drainage from Elm Street and eventually flows through a 24" reinforced concrete pipe alongside of Teresa's Grill 19 parking lot and WF C6. This drain pipe connects to the A series BVW alongside the existing tennis courts and creates the A1-A29 and A1A-A20A BVW series, which eventually drains into the Ipswich River.

A-Series – The A series delineates the eastern edge of the BVW created by the drainage from the C-series BVW. This series is a clearly defined toe of slope wetland from WF A1 through A12, which flattens out around WF A14 and begins widening near WF A18 as the channel approaches the BVW associated with the Ipswich River.

A-1A Series – The A-1A series delineates the western portion of the BVW created by the drainage from the C-series BVW. Similar to the A series, it follows a 4-5' high slope from WF A-1A through WF A-12A, and begins widening and spreading out at WF A-16A. At WF A-20A, the BVW associated with the stream channel begins to join the BVW associated with the Ipswich River.

B-Series – The B-Series (B1 – B39) delineates the western portion of the BVW associated with the Ipswich River, and connects to WF A-23A. For the most part, this series predictably follows along the Ipswich River from elevation 58 to 62. However, a unique area from WF B-20 – B-34 exists where the BVW extends upgradient to elevation 66. This is due to soil conditions which contributed to an extension of wetland hydrology and wetland vegetation.

C-Series – As mentioned above, the C-series (C1 – C18) BVW exists in the northwestern portion of the lot. The water from this BVW drains through a 24" reinforced concrete pipe into a drain that connects to the A and A-1A series BVW's.

Mean Annual High water:

Mean Annual High Water flags MA-1 through MA-22 delineate the mean annual high water associated with the Ipswich River. The mean annual high water was determined through a number of observed conditions in the field.

From roughly WF MA-1 through MA-11 there was an observable break in slope that made the mean annual high-water line straight forward to determine. In this specific case, the bankfull conditions exist above the first break in slope. The reach of low gradient meanders and low-flow channels along the bank were examined in conjunction with a review of soils in those areas to determine the bankfull conditions.

Further west from WF MA-11, the Mean Annual High Water was more clearly defined along the first break in slope. There was a clearer edge where the Ipswich River's reach stopped, and the BVW began due to a steeper slope along the River's edge.

Bordering Land Subject to Flooding, (BLSF):

According to Community Panel Number 25017C0308E, with an effective date of June 4, 2010, there is a Zone AE, (elevation 60), 100 Year FEMA Floodplain located in the southern portion of the subject parcel along the Ipswich River.
