1. Call to Order. Chair Peter Majane called the meeting to order at 6:10 p.m. Peter introduced Christina Gandolfo, prospective Director of Youth Services starting Dec. 5.

2. Guest speaker Laura Miranda. Chair Majane introduced Laura Miranda, LMHC and Mental Health/Substance Abuse Clinician at NRPD. Laura described the tripod informational intervention model for substance misuse, implemented for youth by Det. Lucci (describes enforcement actions that might occur with continued substance use); Amy Luckiewicz (myth-busting about the substance itself); and Laura (mental health causes and repercussions related to substance misuse). Schools refer students to Laura regularly, as part of an MOU between Det. Lucci (student resource officer) and the school department. Higher rates of anxiety and depression have been noted among middle and high school youth since 2019, along with vaping. Laura reported that providers are accepting new patients, and there's been a shift toward more tele-therapy. Committee members raised concerns about how families and youth might feel going to the police department for help, and about how their interactions at the PD would be documented. Laura highlighted that NRPD officers have commendable de-escalation skills and that they benefit from having a clinician directly available to support their de-escalation skills, police self-care, and to follow-up with families they encounter.
